Summary of reasons for decision:

The DVD consists of a series of scenes that explicitly depict sexual activity between men and women. Each scene contains a high extent and degree of degrading, dehumanising and demeaning sexual conduct which, combined with the manner of presentation of this conduct, results in the women involved, and by extension women in general, being highly degraded, dehumanised and demeaned. The pervasiveness of the problematic material is such that excisions are considered impractical and a classification of objectionable is necessary in order to avoid the risk of injury to the public good.

The Classification Office has considered the effects of the Bill of Rights on the application of the classification criteria. The criteria applied by the Classification Office resulting in the limit on the availability of this publication are prescribed by law. The publication is considered to depict sexual conduct that degrades, dehumanises and demeans the women involved, and women more generally, to such an extent and degree so as to render the publication objectionable. This classification represents the minimum interference with freedom of expression that is consistent with preventing likely injury to the public good.
